

MCY Reveals More Details About Skylounge Collection

28 JANUARY 2020 BY MIRANDA BLAZEBY

Italian yard Monte Carlo Yachts has revealed more information about its new Skylounge Collection.

The new four-model range spans 20.1m to 24.4m in length. The 20.1m MCY 70 Skylounge is the first yacht and the smallest model in the range. It will be on show at the Miami Yacht Show in February.

Spread out over three decks, the MCY 70 Skylounge has accommodation for a total of eight people, including an owner's cabin aft and VIP forward of the lower deck. Elsewhere, the yacht's spacious galley is joined to the interior dining area on the main deck. The enclosed bridge makes up the third deck on board.

The new series follows on the builder's second-generation range, which spans 20.1 metres to 32 metres and includes large volumes and "limitless personalisation options", the yard said.

Speaking about the new range, MCY managing director Fabrizio Iarrera said: "We firmly believe in a close and continuous relationship with our customers, and the MCY Skylounge Collection is the perfect example of this."

Designed by the Nuvolari Lenard Design Studio, the range features a wide and customisable enclosed flybridge with 360 degree views. The interior meanwhile will be distinguished by "timeless elegance". The layouts include a large lounge area on the enclosed bridge next to the helm and a wide and bright space on the main deck that can be fitted according to the owner's wishes.

Carlo Nuvolari and Dan Lenard said: "We were inspired by the idea of creating a yacht for all seasons.

"The new MCY 70 Skylounge was designed with all the possible comforts to be a home-away-from-home enjoyable throughout the year, and one that offers the owner a peaceful place to be shared with family and friends, a place for those that enjoy cruising and are looking to escape for unique and exclusive moments."
